

7/8 SCIENCE & SOCIAL STUDIES NEWS

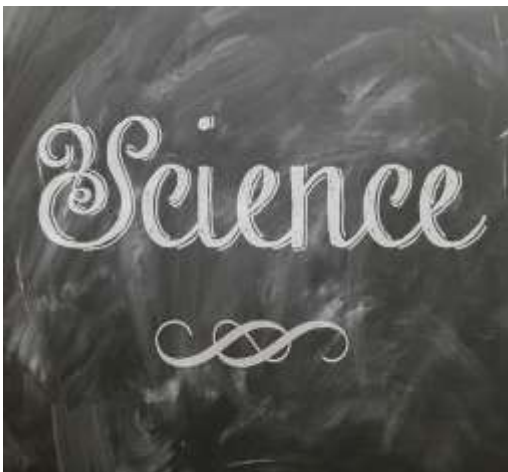

October 12, 2020 Edition

ON THE SCIENCE FRONT

We are still working on Chapter #3 learning all about cells. I found a music video of a teacher performing a song he wrote to make it easier to know the various parts of cell and what their functions are. I posted it to Google Classroom so the kids can learn it, if they like. I think doing so will make it easier to recall this information on our next test, which will be coming up soon.

This next lesson will be about cell growth and reproduction. We will follow it with a class activity and test review. I plan for us to test on Thursday of this week or Tuesday of next week.

From there we will move on to study taxonomy.

HISTORY HEADLINES

This week we will be reviewing and testing over Chapter #8!

We will then pause to work on our materials and presentation information needed to hold our all-school mock Presidential Election on November 2nd.

That will take us to the end of our week.

Next week we will progress to Chapter #9 – the beginnings of our country under the newly written Constitution.

